WEEK 5

THEME: IN THE GARDEN

Date: 6.05.2020

MATHS

Yesterday in Maths, you looked at putting activities you do in the day, in order. People sometimes do things in different orders and that's ok but sometimes it is important to do things in a certain order otherwise you might get in a right old mess. Have a look at the cards below. Talk about them with your adult and put them in the correct order.

Parents, please encourage the children to talk about the pictures and what is happening. Ask them questions such as what did you have to do before you ice the cake and what do you have to do after you have mixed the ingredients. The language before and after is important and you can ask them such questions whenever they do anything that has to be carried out in a certain order. The cards are from Twinkl which should be free to sign up to at the moment.

You see children, you had to mix the ingredients before you put the cake in the oven otherwise it would have tasted awful and you needed to let the cake cool before you iced it otherwise the icing would have melted.

Have a go at this sheet. Cut and stick the pictures in order so you can make a sandwich. Choose which one you want to do. Maybe you could use the instructions to make your lunch. Make sure you have the events in order otherwise.....

LITERACY

For phonics today, I would like you to practise your letter formation. The handwriting sheet in your school closure pack should help. Parents, please could you draw the lines in the book for the children.

Today we are going to practise a, c and o

<https://www.letterjoin.co.uk/> Parents information on how to get on Letterjoin should be in your pack. We are still practising individual letters at this point and not joining.

Super handwriting!

Now I would like you to have a go at writing these words. Listen very carefully to your adult.

act cat sack on cot Now try to copy your adult writing these tricky words. cocoon caterpillar

Physical Development

Have a go at this game. It's called Fruit Squash. Each piece of fruit below has a move to it. You can play it with brothers and sisters too.

Fruit March- March on the spot

Kicking Kiwis-Kick your feet out the front or behind, one at a time

Bouncing Bananas-Bounce on the spot with your feet together

Skiping Strawberries-Skiping on the spot

Running Raspberries-Run on the spot

Climbing Currants- Pretend to climb a ladder on the spot

Wobbling Watermelons-Wobble from side to side

Hopping Honeydews-Hop on the spot

Fruit Squash- Sit down on the floor to squash the fruit

Parents, these actions can be done in any order. After a while, let your child have a go at calling out the fruit. It's a great memory game too.

THEMED LEARNING

Today I would like you to enjoy being outside in your garden or on your exercise walk. Look at all the plants around you. They are all different colours, shapes and sizes. Have you noticed the trees? Most have leaves on. All the leaves on our beautiful plants are different shades of green, different shapes and sizes just like us. We are all different shades of colour, shapes and sizes and we are all beautiful too.

If you can, draw or paint or collage a tree in your garden or one you can see from your window or one you saw on your walk. Tell your adult how they have changed. What did they look like in the Autumn? What did they look like in the Winter? What did they look like in the Spring? Parents, please you scribe what they say in their book. Put your beautiful picture in your window to show everyone on their daily exercise.

Below is a link to another story by Eric Carle. This one is called 'The Tiny Seed'

INDEPENDENCE SKILL

This week I would like you to help an adult put on a load of laundry, you can help by sorting colours, how many items and making sure the dial is on the correct number on the machine. You must only do this with an adult's permission though children.
